

Penghu Volunteer 7-day and 6-night Activity

General Regulations on “2014 Nanliao Caizhai Restoration Volunteer” Activity

[Origin]

Penghu possesses unique ocean resources and geological features. The ancestors overcame all kinds of obstacles and used their intelligence to survive on this land. Faced with difficult living environment, the ancestors in Penghu lived on farming and fishing. They used the coral stone in ocean and basalt in mountains to stack Caizhai and featured buildings. To date, Caizhai and changes of ancient houses with time have become important local cultural assets.

From October to March in the next year, it is hard for plants to survive under the strong northeast monsoon. The windbreak of “Caizhai” was built using coral stone and basalt, in order to grow vegetables. The progress of life has changes the overall social value and structure. Although Caizhai agriculture still exists, it has gradually become a history. However, the living intelligence of ancestors in Penghu derived under difficult natural environment is still admirable.

Many villages where there is no famous tourist attractions have been forsaken by tourism. This Project selects the village which still preserves the traditional rural atmosphere and culture in Penghu -Nanliao Village. There are Caizhai, oxcarts and ancient houses everywhere. It is hoped that Caizhai can be restored through the assistance from volunteers during their stay in the village. It is also hoped that volunteers can understand the history and life background of community through assisting in agricultural affairs in the field. The goal of this Project is to sustainably preserve culture and convey it through the power of volunteers, revive the vigorous field and enable more people to see the pure and beautiful Penghu village.
